GAZEBO DEDICATED

Sunday, June 8 marked the long awaited dedication of the Landmark Gazebo erected in memory of the founding of Bloomingdale in 1833 and dedicated in the memory of the Meachum brothers, Silas, Harve and Lyman, considered to be our founding fathers.

The gazebo and its surrounding park at Bloomingdale Road and Fairfield Way is an outgrowth of Bloomingdale's Sesquicentennial celebration in 1983. A debt of gratitude is owed the many residents and businesses who donated so generously to help make the gazebo a reality.

An open invitation was extended to all residents to attend the 1 p.m. dedication ceremony and the following reception. Also invited were the many people who served on the original Sesquicentennial Committee in 1983 and local dignitaries, including Congressman Henry Hyde, State Senator Doris Karpiel and State Representatives Kay Wojcik and Terry Parke.

Especially honored for their time and commitment over the past three years were members of the Landmark Committee: Chairman Barney Pelant and members Dolores Howe, Joe Draghi, Ethel Williamson, John Ollriksen, John Caldwell and secretary Barbara Froio.

Mayor Sam Tenuto applauded the efforts of all those involved and commented on the community spirit reflected in the undertaking of such a project.

The Gazebo and surrounding park is intended for general use of residents and local organizations. It has always been the intent of the committee that the gazebo be an aesthetic addition to the Village, as well as a lasting tribute to those early settlers of the area that has come to be known as Bloomingdale.

SEPTEMBERFEST 1986

The 14th annual Septemberfest is scheduled to be held on Sunday, September 14 from 11 A.M. to 6 P.M. (rain-date September 20) in Old Town Bloomingdale.

There are applications now available for booth spaces. Spaces are 6 x 10 ft. for $18 before August 1. Exhibitors must provide their own tables and chairs.

After exhibitors have made $200 in profit, a donation of 10 percent of remaining profit is to be given to the Septemberfest Commission. This is to enable the commission to have start-up money for the 1987 Septemberfest. Applications may be picked up at the Village Hall.

Vi Morrisroe, chairperson of the Septemberfest Commission, is looking for people who would be willing to volunteer their time and energy to assist in preparing for the annual event.

Also, if you have the name of a group or individuals who could be contacted to provide entertainment during the festivities, suggestions are welcome.

To either volunteer your help or to give an entertainment suggestion, contact Morrisroe at 980-7723 or leave a message at the Village Hall, 893-7000.

NOTICE

During the summer months of June, July and August, the Village Hall will be closed on Saturday. Regular Saturday hours will begin again after Labor Day.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Imagine... you're awakened at night by the sound of an intruder downstairs. You quietly reach for the phone and whisper your plight to a police radio dispatcher who promises police are on their way...

Imagine... one evening someone in your family appears to be having a heart attack. You race to the phone and call paramedics. They give you quick instructions and speed toward your house...

Imagine... you're going to cover the youngsters one more time before you retire. The four-year old is not in his room — a frantic search reveals he is not in the house. A near hysterical call to police follows...

All three situations — frightening, yes. But what is even more frightening is the stark reality that while the police or paramedics are speeding toward your home, they have a good chance of not being able to determine exactly where you live. Why? Because a good percentage of the family dwellings in this village do not have legible addresses which can be viewed even with a spotlight.

Perhaps, even if in circumstances two and three, you might be standing outside, home lights ablazing, anxiously awaiting for help to arrive, what about number one? As you lie quietly, heart pounding, hoping not to spook a possibly armed intruder, will the police car be cruising your street, trying to determine from which house the call came?

Tonight, after dark, go outside and to the street. Can you see your house number from this vantage point? Granted, the three examples are not the run-of-the-mill calls. But it is in this kind of extreme circumstance that precious minutes lost trying to locate a residence can mean the difference between life and death.

Chief Gary Schira suggests house numbers should be prominently displayed in a standard location with a size and in a contrasting color to make it clearly visible from the roadway. As to location, he suggests the house number be placed on the garage or adjacent to the front door, whichever is closest to the street, as well as on the mailbox.

Although there is an ordinance on the requirement for numbers on residential units required by our Village code, we are hoping by stressing the importance of having a legible and visible address on a home, residents will see this as a benefit and will voluntarily comply.

The building department will be happy to provide residents with guidelines in this area to any resident. Call 893-7000 during business hours.

Prominently display your address. It may be the easiest thing you have ever done to protect your family and property.

MAILBOXES

This winter has certainly kept our public works crews busy removing the snow and ice. Hopefully, this is now behind us for several more months. Unfortunately, some of our residents experienced some damage to their mailboxes and posts due to snow removal.

In some cases, mailboxes are insecurely fastened to the post, or the post is weak. When heavy snow and ice is thrown against it, sometimes damage occurs. We cannot be responsible for this, but residents can and should take steps to protect their mailbox from this.

Sometimes, the post is located too close to the street or is leaning and our plow hits it. Since we try to clean all the way to the curb, a few mailboxes may be damaged this way.

Since many residents may not be aware, we have prepared some sketches of how mailboxes should be located. This information was provided by the Post Office. We ask residents to check their mailbox for compliance, and to relocate theirs if necessary. By doing this, and by making sure that the installation is sturdy, homeowners can reduce the likelihood of damage.

A MESSAGE FROM THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

The Bloomingdale Fire Department has recently responded to numerous fires in outside light fixtures on single family homes. Therefore, the purpose of this article is to make homeowners aware of the problems, and what corrective action can be taken to improve the safety of your home. The fixtures we are talking about are the outside entry lights above your front door. These light fixtures should be checked to make sure all plastic panels are in their proper places, that the wood frames have not split or pulled apart and that the frames are firmly attached to the building. Any defect in the fixtures could allow birds to build nests of dried grass in these fixtures. If the nest comes in contact with the light bulb, a fire will occur.

Some Safety Tips

- Always use low wattage light bulbs, 60 watt maximum
- Clean and inspect fixtures quarterly, inside and outside

An example of the light fixtures referred to.

- Replacement fixtures shall be U.L. approved for exterior use

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Bloomingdale Building Department, 893-7000 or the Bloomingdale Fire Department, 894-8488.

FAREWELL TO A GOOD FRIEND

SPECIAL MOM RECOGNIZED

When Bertie Sargis leaves Bloomingdale next month for the sunny skies of California, Village Hall employees and many, many residents will be saying good-bye to more than a co-worker and neighbor. They will be saying good-bye to a valued friend.

A resident since 1960, Bertie first came to the Village's employ in 1971. She served as deputy clerk and office manager in the old Village Hall with a staff of four.

She worked part-time out of her house as the secretary-treasurer of the Park District starting in 1970. She left the old Village Hall and went full time with the Park District when the recreational building was built. She was Tom Lovern's - Park District Director - first secretary.

In 1977 Bertie married Jim Sargis. As she puts it, "Jim was elected to the Park District Board on Tuesday, we were married on Friday and Monday I lost my job." Of course, this was expected and Bertie soon went back to the Village Hall.

This time she started in the Finance Department and after a few months became secretary to Bob Reeves, Village Administrator. She has held that position since.

Both Bertie and Jim have been very active in the community. Bertie was part of the initial group to establish what is today the P.T.O. organizations in School District 13. Jim remains involved in the Park District to this day as well as being an active Lion Club member since 1973. Jim also holds the distinction of being named District Lion of the Year in 1975 and Bloomingdale Citizen of the Year in 1976. Between them they have seven children of whom they can be very proud.

Getting comments from Village staff about Bertie was a simple task. Everyone, starting with Mayor Tenuto, had high praise, "...she contributed much more than just skill," he explains. "Her excellence originated from a genuine caring for both the people of the Village whom she was serving and for the people with whom she worked. Bertie will be missed sorely."

Bob Reeves, her boss for nine plus years, says "...she has proven time and again her value to me and the Village. I wish her and her husband Jim well..."

From Lori D., the mayor's secretary who works closely with Bertie, "I will definitely miss overhearing her 'motherly' conversations with her children; but most of all, I will miss a co-worker who has proven to be a good friend."

The comments are all similar. The words "caring, conscientious, good friend" are repeated over and over. There's no doubt Bertie cares about the Village and its residents. In fact, about three months ago an article she wrote singing the praises of Bloomingdale appeared in the Suburban Living section of the Chicago Sun Times.

Beyond all that, underlying the comical anecdotes, the clever quips offered by co-workers, the message is obvious. Over the years, Bertie has been there for each of them, as they have been for her, to rejoice in happiness, to share in sorrow. Friends like that are not easy to find — and are long remembered.

Best always, Bertie.

Old Town Bloomingdale and Indian Lakes Resort recently sponsored a Mother's Day essay contest. The winning entry was from Michael J. Lehman who wrote the following of his mom, Suzanne Lehman:

"Loving, understanding, compassionate. Listening patiently, advising gently. Burdened with two responsible jobs. She has always given us a warm, loving home. That is our Mother."

Mrs. Lehman won a weekend for two at Indian Lakes Resort because of her son's essay. Hundreds of entries were received in which children of all ages wrote up to 25 words why their mother was special.

Margrethe Carter, president of the Bloomingdale Homemakers, accepts a proclamation from Mayor Tenuto in honor of DuPage County Homemakers Extension Association Week last month.

DISTRICT 15 NEWS

by Lawrence J. Golden, Superintendent

As the 1985-86 school year comes to a close, the administrative staff of Marquardt School District 15 announces the completion of district goals formulated for this school year. These goals were established in conjunction with the teaching staff, administration and school board, and represent accomplishments in the areas of curriculum & instruction, finance and future planning.

The majority of the curriculum and instruction goals reflect the mandated aspects of the educational reforms encompassed in SB 730. These goals addressed the development of a teacher evaluation instrument and procedures.

Focus on the curricular areas resulted in the adoption of a new language arts program, the employment of a reading specialist as part of the new Reading Improvement Program and the expansion of a comprehensive computer education program for kindergarten through grade eight.

In the area of finance, the administration announces the acquisition of the Association of School Business Officials' Certificate of Excellence in the area of financial reporting. One of the many advantages to the awarding of this certificate is that financial institutions and bond marketing groups can unquestionably rely on the credibility of the financial reports provided by the district, and subsequently, the bond rating of issues offered by the district is definitely enhanced.

Lastly, the recommendations of the Strategic Planning Committee have been presented to the District 15 Board of Education. The committee, comprised of parents, teachers and administrators, studied the recommendations provided by the Illinois State Board of Education.

The immediate recommendation was to keep the schools "status quo;" however a recommendation was made to relocate the Winnebago Learning Center in order to establish additional teaching sites. Other possibilities explored were to reopen Craft School as an Early Childhood Kindergarten Center and to house sixth grade students at the Marquardt Middle School in an integrated organizational structure.

It is my hope as we begin the process of formulating goals for the 1986-87 school year, that we have as enthusiastic an input and that our succeeding years will be as successful as the 1985-86 school year has been.

DISTRICT 13 NEWS

Every Student A Winner

At this time of year, students, parents, and school personnel are very busy keeping track of dates to attend award ceremonies, and District #13 is no exception. We have recently seen many of our students receive honors in music, mathematics, history, spelling, sports...

Obviously, these students are winners, as are those on the scholastic honor roll, those who give their time as volunteers, and those who represented us on the recent Student Career Day. There are other winners in our district who are seldom mentioned — the average student who comes to school every day, and tries his best.

We feel that EVERY STUDENT is a winner. Our grading system is set up to grade each student on working to the best of HIS/HER ability.

At DuJardin School, a few students are named each week as Jaguars of the week. This program recognizes that every student needs to know that he has impressed his teacher. At Central, the RAH program recognizes student achievements. These students needn't have outstanding grades or special ability in any one subject area. They may simply have tried very hard to improve study habits, or been especially helpful with fellow students or to a teacher.

At Westfield, where students are older, recognition takes other forms, often by homeroom teachers. Principal Chuck Swangren points out that junior high students are often thought of as discipline problems, while quite the opposite is true. We tend to hear about the outstanding students, but not about those who consistently earn a C or better in behavior. "As usual, over 90% of our students earn a C in behavior, with 66% earning A's, 105 of those having earned perfect grades of 100%. We are pleased with these results of our discipline system.

We are bringing to a close another successful school year, with every student a winner!

CAREER DAY 1986

The 1986 Career Day was another tremendous success thanks to the organizational efforts of Mike Zivic, assistant principal at Westfield. Once again, School District 13, the Village and related services, as well as the business community participated in the annual event. 83 youngsters from 12 area schools assumed adult roles for the day.

Village Planner Jenny Lewitan gets a little advice from her adult counterpart Pete Pointner.

District 13 Superintendent Jerry Gordon shows Superintendent Mike Genualdi and Assistant Superintendent Anthony Wilder the ropes of running a school district.

Police Commander Anthony Armocida and adult counterpart Chuck Mader give Detective Kenneth Simonsen and his adult counterpart Tom Schrieber a good talking to.

Mayor Jason Kunio along with Mr. Tenuto listen intently to question being posed.

Carrie Neff attends to a patient in the dental offices of Dr. Pat Klingler.

Communications Supervisor Valerie Perry learns the inside track from Patti Ritter.

Matt Heller, store manager of Paul Paoletti, Ltd. oversees the work of Renee Handtmann, tailor.

Kristen Hettlinger took over the position of Westfield assistant principal for Mike Zivic, the man who organized Career Day.

Police Chief Courtney Stapleton relished the paperwork generated in Chief Gary Schira's office.

Village Clerk Michael Howard and Marie Tayfel are amused by the comments made by Village Trustees.

PET RESCUE A HALFWAY HOUSE FOR ABANDONED PETS AND MORE

In an unpretentious Pre-Civil War constructed farmhouse located at 151 North Bloomingdale Road you will find one of Bloomingdale's best kept secrets. Pet Rescue - the midwest's largest no-kill sanctuary for abandoned pets. This non-profit, tax-exempt charity animal shelter, founded in 1973 operates only on private donations. Pet Rescue receives no state funds.

Ms. Dale Armon, founder and president of Pet Rescue, says that each year over 18 million cats and dogs are destroyed because no one wanted them. She and her staff of seven full time employees and thirty volunteer workers feel that if given a chance to live, these pets could become a friendly playmate to a child, a faithful friend to a senior citizen, or just a pet for everyone.

While waiting for someone like you to adopt them, Pet Rescue gives each of their 200 (cats, dogs, birds, bunnies, gerbils, and hamsters - to name a few) residents the best of care. This begins with a full medical check-up including shots to prevent diseases. The cost for each dog or cat is approximately $100.

Just as care is taken to insure the health of their pets, Pet Rescue takes care to screen all people considering adopting one of their pets. Armon feels that pets are in many ways like kids, so when a pet misbehaves it should be taught like a child and not just discarded.

In addition to placing pets in loving homes, Pet Rescue offers many other services. They give advice to pet owners as to how to care for problem pets; they offer a speaker service to schools and groups. Tours are conducted for scouts, schools or anyone interested in Pet Rescue's facilities. You can be placed on Pet Rescue's mailing list and receive, free of charge, their bi-monthly newsletter, including tips on pet care along with many interesting articles. Pet I.D. tags can also be made free of charge for your pet.

Even a computer is used by Pet Rescue to help find lost pets or to place pets in new homes.

Pet Rescue is also a part-time model agency. Wayne Foods and Tender Vittles Cat Food Companies have used Pet Rescue cats as photography models for their cat food packaging.

As you can see, Pet Rescue is dedicated to the care and protection of all pets. Dale and her people need your help. They need additional volunteers to help work as well as needing homes for pets. June is adopt a cat month and Pet Rescue has a large selection of beautiful soft furry cats (and cat food models) waiting for homes. If you are considering a pet, contact Pet Rescue. They are open Monday through Saturday from 11:00 AM - 3:30 PM and some evenings by appointment. For information and details of these and other services call Pet Rescue at 893-0030.
