14th Annual Septemberfest

Once again Bloomingdale proudly presents its annual Septemberfest on September 14 (rain date September 21). The festivities will begin at noon on the stage located on Franklin Street.

Part of the opening ceremonies will be the crowning of the Bloomingdale Septemberfest Queen. All young ladies between the ages of 15 and 21 are invited to enter. The lucky young lady and her court will receive many wonderful prizes donated by the fine Bloomingdale merchants.

Once again the official jeweler for the Queen Contest will be Lustig Jewelers of Stratford Square, donating the commemorative crown, a charm bracelet, necklace and pendant. Other prizes include Polaroid cameras from West Suburban Bank, a comb and mirror set, gold key from TLC Gift Shop, a basket of Anais Anais, a haircut and style compliments of Marshall Field & Co.

All entries must be in by September 6. On September 9, a pizza party will be held for all contestants, compliments of Rosati's Pizza. Judging will be held on Wednesday, September 10. See p. 6 for the Queen Contest entry form.

The Septemberfest celebration this year will once again include numerous booths sponsored by local organizations, food, games, entertainment and antiques. Many fine crafts will be located along Third Street. Applications for these craftsmen will be accepted only until August 15. No cancellations will be accepted after this date. Call Vi Morrisroe, Septemberfest Commission Chairman at 980-7723 for details.

Entertainment this year will be better than ever with a variety guaranteed to please all ages and interests. "The Moondogs," led by Mitch Alvarez will be performing favorite country and rock recordings. Banjo and fiddle lovers are in for a real treat with "Ripe for the Pickin'." They will be entertaining with both traditional and progressive tunes. Whether you're from the south of Texas or south of Lake Street, you'll love this group. Also appearing will be M & R Music, playing some of your favorite music.

Of course, Septemberfest wouldn't be the same unless we had some of our traditional specials returning for yet another round of merriment for the child in all of us. We are speaking, of course, about the Moonwalk for children, sponsored by Incarnation Church and the ever popular Dunk Tank sponsored by The Knights of Columbus of St. Isidore's.

The Bloomingdale Beamers will be on hand to thrill with their gymnastic skills. For those with a thirst for reading, The Friends of the Library will be selling books and the Garden Club will have dried flowers. Another favorite, Chuckles to Reign and all his crazy friends will once again be painting faces and mingling with the crowds. By popular demand, Septemberfest T-shirts will also be on sale.

In conjunction with Septemberfest the Bloomingdale Women's Club will be sponsoring its 14th annual Festival of Arts featuring both fine arts and crafts in the Bloomingdale State Bank parking lot. Featured also will be a bake sale, Rosati's Pizza and the pocket lady for kids.

No Septemberfest would be complete without the food, and there will be plenty of it. The Lions Club will be handling beer sales again. For your convenience handicapped parking will be located at Central School. Lost and Found is located next to the First Aid Station, located in the Fire Department.

The Septemberfest Commission suggests you leave your car at home as this will help avoid traffic problems. Watch for more details on the big day in local papers as September approaches. Inside this issue of the Almanac you will find a helpful map of the Septemberfest site. See you all there.

TRIMMING OF PARKWAY TREES

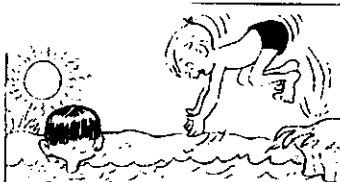

Some of our residents have indicated a concern over the appearance of certain parkway trees. Typically, these parkway trees are located in an area between the sidewalk and the curb, and this is on Village property. While these trees are technically on Village property, it is important to recognize the need for each homeowner and/or business to give these trees the same amount of attention as they do the lawn areas in these parkways and other trees on their property.

The parkway trees need periodic pruning to keep the branches from overhanging sidewalks and presenting a problem for pedestrians. Also, the trees need to have periodic feeding with available commercial fertilizers such as tree stakes, as well as periodic watering to help the tree grow and be resistant to disease.

The Village could institute an extensive program for the care and feeding and pruning of all of these parkway trees. However, with the cooperation of each of our residents, such expense is unnecessary. There are apparently some communities which prohibit residents or private property owners from tampering with the parkway trees. It is our belief that, if properly done, there will be an improvement to the appearance of the trees and no damage will occur.

If residents desire further information they may contact the Public Works Superintendent at the Village Hall during normal business hours.

As a service to our residents, Absentee Ballots will now be handled at the Village Hall for the upcoming election. For more information, contact the Village Clerk, Marie E. Tayfel at the Village Hall, 893-7000 during business hours.

BOURKE RESIGNS

Since the last issue of the Almanac was published, Assistant Administrator Marty Bourke has left the Village to take a job as Administrator for the Village of Winfield. Marty was with us since April 1984 and did an excellent job with the many projects he undertook for the Village.

We hate to see him go, but this is a wonderful opportunity for him. We will also miss his wife Cathy and daughter Megan, who were present at many Village functions. Our good wishes go with all of them.

Recently hired as Assistant Administrator is Denise E. Pultorak who has spent the last two years as Assistant Administrator for Woodridge. She comes to us with excellent qualifications and will begin on August 11. The Almanac will feature a story on her in the next issue.

KUDOS FOR DETECTIVE SCHRIEBER

Some overdue recognition goes to Bloomington Police Detective Tom Schrieber who was honored in April by the Addison Police and Fire Merit Review Board.

The Detective Supervisor received an official commendation for assisting the Addison Police Department with a conspiracy to commit armed robbery and murder case.

The suspects were taken in on weapon charges and refused to give their story to anyone but Schrieber as he had had previous dealings with them. Upon formal request of the Addison Police Department through the Bloomington Department, the detective came out in the middle of the night from his home to interrogate a number of persons.

As a result of his questioning, Schrieber was able to secure confessions from the suspects implicating them in a plot to rob and kill another subject residing in Addison.

According to Police Chief Gary J. Schira, "It is indeed gratifying to know that the performance and abilities of our police department personnel, such as Detective Schrieber, are held in high regard by our peers. This is just one example of the excellent relationship we enjoy with other law enforcement agencies."

The Addison Police and Fire Merit Review Board is a non-profit organization made up of civic organizations and businesses in Addison. Some 400 people attended the dinner at which Schrieber and others were honored for their commendable actions.

CLARIFICATION

We inadvertently omitted Household Bank and Advanced Systems Applications as financial sponsors of the Kid's Career Day held during April. We apologize for the oversight.

GRANTS FOR LOCAL PROGRAMMING

The Northern DuPage Cable Television Agency (NORDCAT) is announcing a grant program to help foster local programming within the Consortium area.

15 YEARS IN THE P.D.

Two of our police department personnel have recently celebrated the 15 year mark with the Bloomingdale Police Department. Both officers began working on the same day, Corporal Larson at 8 A.M. and Commander Raney at Noon.

A lifelong resident of DuPage County, Shilora Larson joined the Bloomingdale Police Department on July 16, 1971 as the department's first female officer. She came from the Glendale Heights Police Department where she was a dispatcher.

Approximately four years later she became one of the first female police officers in DuPage County to be assigned to regular patrol duties. From January, 1980 through April, 1983 Shilora was in charge of the Support Services Division. She was reassigned to the Patrol Division in November, 1983.

Since September, 1984 she has been serving as one of the three corporals in the department. She has also been a department juvenile officer for much of her career.

Shilora and her husband Bob have lived in Bloomingdale for the past nine years. They are both very active in the Order of the Eastern Star, as well as serving as adult advisors for a Job's Daughters chapter.

David Raney joined the Bloomingdale Police Department on July 16, 1971 as the department's first radio dispatcher. He became a police officer in August, 1972. He was promoted to sergeant in August, 1976 and to the position of commander in April, 1983. He is currently serving as Commander of the Administrative Services Division.

David attended Northwestern University during the turbulent late 60's and credits the cool heads of the Evanston Police Department during that time period with initially attracting him into law enforcement. He is a graduate of the 134th session of the FBI National Academy, getting straight A's while attending.

David has been married for 11 years to Marian Raney and has two children, Brian, age 5 and Sarah, Age 2. The Raney's recently moved to Glen Ellyn after living the previous eight years in Hoffman Estates.

David is a Past Master of his Masonic Lodge in Elmhurst and is also currently serving as president of the Board of Trustees of the Church of the Cross, Presbyterian in Hoffman Estates.

RADON

Based on recent reports which were carried in the local news, the Village has purchased a number of test kits to determine levels of radon in a small number of homes in Bloomingdale. Other states have noted high Radon levels also, and quite a bit of publicity has been made about it.

WHAT IS RADON AND WHERE DOES IT COME FROM?

Radon is a radioactive gas and occurs naturally due to the breakdown of various radioactive elements such as uranium, thorium and radium. It is at present, at small, unharmed levels in all the air we breathe. Outside air dilutes the radon to safe levels, but it can accumulate in airtight homes to levels which can be harmful, depending on many factors.

AT WHAT LEVELS IS IT HARMFUL?

The Environmental Protection Agency has said that levels over four (4) picocuries per liter of air is hazardous. This has been compared to causing the same cancer risk as smoking four cigarettes a day. According to one study, the average level in North American homes is one (1) picocurie per liter.

WHAT IS BEING DONE ABOUT RADON?

Much of the publicity has related to the lack of information and definitive studies so far. This is changing now and a number of State and Federal agencies are allocating additional funds for further research to be done over the next few years.

WHERE CAN I GET FURTHER INFORMATION ON TEST KITS AND OVERCOMING THE PROBLEM, IF FOUND?

The State of Illinois, Department of Nuclear Safety can be contacted at (217) 546-8100. Their mailing address is 1035 Outer Park Drive, Springfield, IL 62704. Also, you can write to the U.S. EPA, Office of Radiation Programs, 401 M. Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20460. Test kits generally cost between $12 and $65 each.

WHEN WILL THE VILLAGE BE DOING ITS TESTS?

Because of the seasons and the fact that many people have open windows, we will be delaying the program until later this year when homes are closed for better readings. Summary results will be made public.

NOTABLE NEIGHBOR

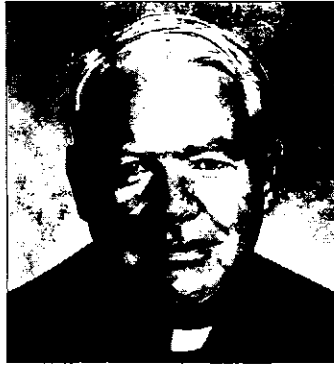

Fr. John Guiney - 25 Years of Serving

Some people search the seas for treasure, some people travel the world to see the Seven Wonders, and some people climb high mountains because they are there, but this notable neighbor went to Africa and discovered that people are what are important, not material things.

On the occasion of his twenty-fifth anniversary as a Roman Catholic priest, Reverend John Guiney, S.M.A., of St. Isidore's Catholic Church, Bloomingdale, speaks of his travels and experiences.

With a strong Irish brogue and a twinkle in his eye, Father John began his life's story by telling of his childhood. Growing up on a small farm in County Tipperary, Ireland, he realized that there was not enough work to support his mother, father and seven brothers and sisters. He also found little work available in the surrounding area.

With a little money and a lot of hope he moved to America and began a new life living with his aunt in Boston. Father John graduated from Boston College with a degree in Philosophy but still did not know what to do with his life. Not until he began studies in Theology at Catholic University in Washington, D.C., did he decide that the priesthood would be his life. In 1961 Father John was ordained a priest.

As he looked to where he may be of most good, Father John felt that being a missionary in Africa would be the choice. For the next twenty years he would travel through Western Africa and the countries of Guinea and Nigeria. In many ways he found conditions similar to his native Ireland. Both areas offered little in comparison to the luxuries we enjoy in the United States, like running water, electricity, and dependable telephone service.

Many of his years were spent working with lepers. To most of their fellow countrymen, lepers are still considered outcasts, even though the disease is not contagious. Trying to help people learn to care for themselves and feed themselves became Father John's top priority. He came to realize no matter what a person's handicap, everyone could contribute something.

He also found that you have to be broad-minded and accept people for who they are. As a result Father John came to realize that religion is a very human experience.

In 1982 he returned to the United States and was subsequently assigned to St. Isidore's parish.

For those who know him, Father John is a very warm, understanding person. He is always willing to help those who cannot help themselves. Like working on a street corner in late October helping to raise money by selling Knights of Columbus candy for the mentally handicapped children of Marklund Home.

Then there is a side of Father Guiney which is best described by the word on his car's license plate - Gadfly. Being an instigator of controversy led him to first be dubbed this name while working along the Ivory Coast in Africa.

Here in Bloomingdale we find the Gadfly at work finding ways to overcome problems by challenging people for ideas and commitments to solving those problems.

Twenty-five years of serving his fellow man, Father John Guiney is a man of the world, a man of God, and one of our Notable Neighbors.

OLD TOWN INTRODUCE NEW AMBASSADORS

Six teens with talent for singing, dancing, and meeting people have been organized to perform at Old Town Bloomingdale as the Old Town Ambassadors. Decked out in red, white, and blue, the teens will act as Ambassadors each weekend at the center throughout the summer, welcoming and entertaining customers.

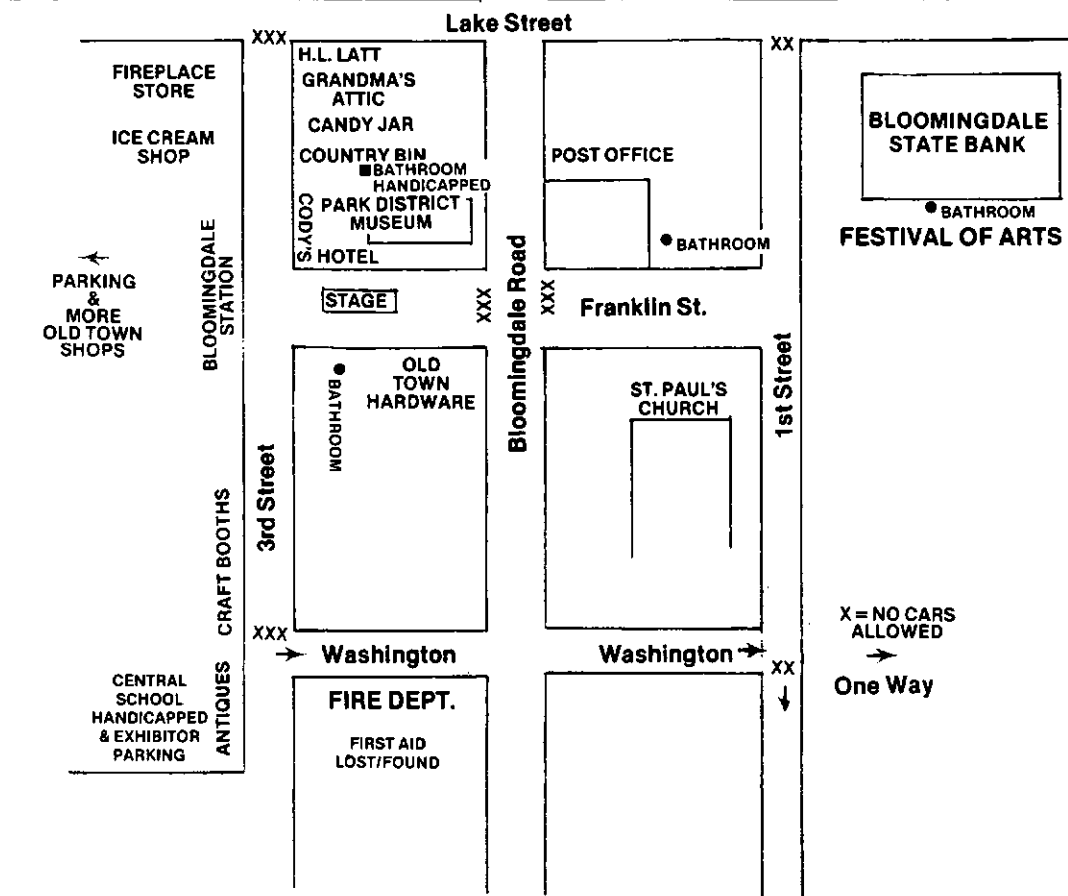

Monica Bolling, a Bloomingdale resident and a student at Loyola University, is the manager of the group. Ms. Bolling, who is majoring in communications, has helped to find the teens, choreographed their musical routines, and oversees their performances at Old Town.

Members of the group include five Bloomingdale residents; Erik Bolling, Brian Keeter, Heidi Lyons, Kristin Equi, and Jeff Miller. The sixth Old Town Ambassador is Deanna Carellas of Glendale Heights.

The concept of Old Town Ambassadors is based on programs using talented teens at Disney World and Six Flags Great America. The Old Town Ambassadors perform turn-of-the-century tunes like "Take Me Out To The Ball Game" and "The Band Played On". New songs and routines will be added throughout the summer. The Ambassadors act as hosts to Old Town Bloomingdale and provide visitors with information on Old Town stores and events.

"WAVES TO FREEDOM"

A Real Production

Do you have your copy of the commemorative book, "Waves to Freedom" yet? The books, which went on sale during Liberty Weekend, will be available at the Village Hall, Bloomingdale Library, and local businesses through October 28. At $3.00, the book is a real bargain, and an excellent example of student effort in School District #13. All proceeds go to the Statue of Liberty Ellis Island Foundation. Printing charges, done at cost by Budde Printshop, are being paid by the school district.

The campaign to market the book has taken the form of summer school class called Ad Busters. The highlight of the student marketing efforts, under the direction of Miss Fischer and Kim Stuffelbeam, was probably the day the Chicago Tribune interviewed the class, and immediately thereafter Channel 2 arrived to do the same. The story ran on the Six O'Clock News that evening.

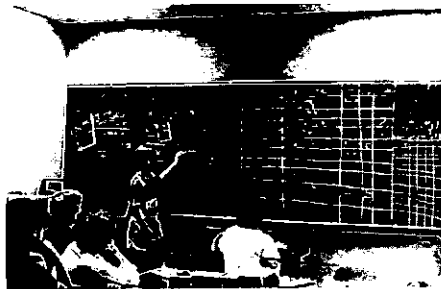

Channel Two news reporter Dorothy Tucker listens to one of the "Ad Busters" talk about their progress.

The project began in February, under the direction of Leslie Fischer, who heads the district's Accelerated Learning Enrichment for Children (ALEC) Committee. Students explored historical facts about the Statue of Liberty, and the effects of immigration on our country. Teachers incorporated the project into every subject. Mathematics classes, for instance, learned that the Lady's arm is 42 feet long, and her index finger 8 feet. Science classes studied the effects of salt water on her copper sheathing.

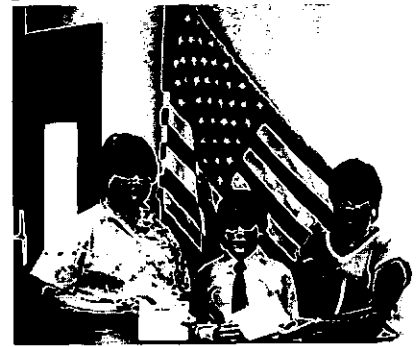

Students were invited to submit original stories, poems, interviews with immigrants, skits, songs and art work. A committee of judges, including Paula Luberda, Patt Korbecki, Karin Hahn, Sandy Weishaar, Diane Zysko and Miss Fischer, chose 104 pieces of student work to include in the publication. Jeff Kreml's art was chosen for the cover design, with artwork by Ginger Ingole on the back cover.

Then came the marketing campaign. Students discussed advertising strategies on a limited budget, and began to explore markets. They contacted local businesses to take books on consignment, and arranged displays at Bloomingdale Library and Village Hall. Posters, bookmarks and flyers were designed. Local newspapers ran feature stories about the project. And they went for the big time, with The Chicago Tribune running a feature just before Liberty Weekend, and of course, the feature on television.

Joey Gebis goes over the marketing strategy for the week.

Ginger Ingole and Jeff Kreml receive certificates of merit from Leslie Fischer for their artwork which was used on the cover of "Waves to Freedom."

The sale continues through October 28 when the restored Statue will be dedicated, and the funds raised through the student project will be presented. Get your copy of this limited edition commemorative book of student work while they last.

NEW BUSINESSES

BODY LINGO

Why would anybody want to go into a business when most other people fail? Is it because he wants to fail? Or is it because he wants to lose money? No, it's because entrepreneur Mr. Boomer Johnson has a secret for success.

In April Johnson re-opened Body Lingo T-Shirt Shop, 619 Stratford Square, Stratford Square Mall (upper level near Main Street and Brown's Sporting Goods). This was to become his second successful store. The first was Boomer T's in Hillside Mall Shopping Center.

Boomer Johnson's secret for success is, "Give the customer what they want at a fair price." Body Lingo is not just a fancy t-shirt shop, but a full service store where you can have from a basic heat transfer to an air brush picture of a loved one applied to a shirt. Need school or church organization lettered shirts, caps or jackets? Body Lingo can do it and at a discount, too.

If you need a special shirt for yourself, a couple of dozen for the ball team or a thousand for the company picnic, no job is too small or too large to Mr. Johnson.

Do you want to see other reasons why this t-shirt store is so successful? Drop by the next time you're at Stratford Square or call Body Lingo at 351-8081.

DR. CARLOTTA RINKE OPENS PRACTICE

Dr. Carlotta Rinke has opened her general and internal medical practice at 109 Fairfield Way, Suite 104 (across from Dominick's), Bloomingdale.

This St. Louis University Medical School graduate served her residency at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond. Most recently Dr. Rinke has been teaching and practicing Emergency Medicine at Glendale Heights Community Hospital.

Because she knew the area, the doctor felt right at home and decided that Bloomingdale would be the perfect location for her practice. In addition to Glendale Heights Community Hospital, she is also affiliated with Alexian Brothers Medical Center.

Dr. Rinke's practice specializes in women's health care problems like osteoporosis, pre-menopause and cardiovascular diseases. As a community service, she also presents seminars on subjects pertaining to women's health care.

To keep abreast of current medical practices the doctor is a contributing editor for the Journal of American Medical Association. Dr. Rinke also teaches a course in Emergency Medicine at Loyola University Medical Center where her students learn how to give immediate attention to acutely ill and injured persons.

For an appointment or further information, contact Dr. Carlotta Rinke at 351-8660.

THAT KITCHEN PLACE

Many people who begin a retail business spend months, even years, deciding what venture to begin and then take additional months finding a location. This is not the case with Grayce Cochrane, owner of That Kitchen Place, 108 South Third Street #2 in Bloomingdale's Old Town.

The idea was spontaneous and her choice of Old Town was just as spontaneous. The same can be said of her other Old Town business called Hand Made in Illinois. Grayce said that if anyone would have told her back at the beginning of this year that she would own a retail store, much less two, she would have told them that they were crazy.

However, the assortment of kitchen gifts and gadgets displayed in and on authentic antique tables, cupboards and china cabinets do not have the look of a spontaneous creation. On the contrary, the selection of basic to unique hard-to-find gadgets like Italian stainless steel cooking utensils would make even the Frugal Gourmet smile with delight. Beautiful linens such as aprons, towels, napkins, placemats and pot holders, would add color as well as function to any kitchen, as would the ceramic cookie jars and canister sets.

For any kitchen needs, from magnets to wall decor to kitchen scales, That Kitchen Place is surely the place for you.

DR. SANDROFF JOINS DENTAL PRACTICE

Terry Sandroff D.D.S. recently joined Dr. Stanley Treitler in his periodontal practice at 130 N. Bloomingdale Road. Sandroff graduated from dental school at the University of Illinois. He completed his periodontal graduate training, as well as receiving a master of science degree in oral biology in Kansas City, Missouri.

Dr. Sandroff explains dentistry is a rapidly growing and changing field. With more and more people becoming health conscious, the need for maintaining dental health is also increasing.

He says, "Periodontics, the treatment of gum infections, is one part of dentistry's changes toward health-mindedness. The specialty no longer requires painful surgical care to treat pyorrhea. In fact, we treat the majority of periodontal disease in our office non-surgically. Today there are many ways to control gum disease without the need for full mouth surgery. I know if I had my choice, I would hope to be treated by non-surgical methods first."

If you have any questions, concerns or problems regarding periodontal disease, Drs. Treitler and Sandroff will be happy to speak with you. Their number appears on the back page Business Directory in this issue.

JEFFERY COOK, D.D.S.

Dr. Jeffery Cook, a general dentist, recently opened his practice at 183 S. Bloomingdale Rd. Dr. Cook is a graduate of Loyola University School of Dental Surgery located in Maywood.

This is a homecoming of sorts for the Cook family. Jeff's wife Susan (formerly Susan Ahlrich) graduated from Lake Park High School in 1974. Both Jeff and Sue are looking forward to setting up housekeeping in Bloomingdale and renewing old acquaintances.

Dr. Cook's services include all aspects of dentistry - from simple oral hygiene care and instructions to cosmetic bonding procedures. Child sitting is also offered; a parent can bring their children to be cared for while their dental needs are attended to. Dr. Cook also offers professional nutritional counseling by a registered dietician.

Dr. Cook has appointments available Monday through Saturday. For more information about his services or for an appointment call 307-0124.

DISTRICT 15 NEWS

SUMMER PROGRAMS SUCCESS

Students who attended summer school in Marquardt School District 15 demonstrated impressive gains in academic achievement. The three summer programs offered included Chapter I, Computer Camp and Primary Summer School.

The overall purpose of the Chapter 1 Summer School was to provide remediation in two of five basic subject areas — reading, language arts, mathematics, science and social studies — to selected students.

The program served 81 sixth, seventh and eighth graders. At its conclusion, 56 scholastic achievement awards were presented.

Another summer school program, Computer Camp offered the Apple Challenge Program. This program is a merit-award system which sets requirements for students to achieve Red and Yellow Apple Awards. Activities included research, consultation with experts and computer use. Of 140 students participating, 28 received Red Apples for their proficiency in the area of computer education.

The district's newest summer school offering, a primary summer school program, emphasized reading and writing. Activities gave the students an opportunity to improve in areas of competency or strengthen areas of deficiency.

Students were grouped according to "at risk" or "enrichment" status by grade level. There were also activities promoting interactions between the two groups. The integrating of math, computers, science and social studies into the reading and writing experiences was accomplished when appropriate.

Writing samples from the first day and the last day of the program showed that 73 percent of the students improved their written expression. The Board of Education was pleased with the success of this year's summer program and congratulates the teaching staff on their continuing efforts to provide quality education for the Marquardt students.

DID YOU KNOW?

A Bit of Bloomingdale History

DuJardin Elementary School is named for Rosamond DuJardin, a well-known author who lived a short distance from the school on Glen Ellyn Road. She and her husband owned and sold to the school district the property on which the school building is built. Her grandchildren attended DuJardin after it was built in 1964.

Rosamond DuJardin was born Rosamond Neal on July 22, 1902 in Fairland, Illinois. When she was two, she and her family moved to Chicago where she attended school. Her family members were avid readers, enjoying everything from Shakespeare to Sherlock Holmes.

With such a prolific introduction to written material, it was perhaps natural for Rosamond to become a reporter on her high school paper. She also enjoyed writing poetry.

Upon graduation from Morgan Park High School she worked in the billing department of Charles A. Stevens. It was after her marriage to Victor DuJardin that she became a serious writer. It was Victor who encouraged her to hire household help so she would have the time to devote to writing.

Before her death in 1963, Rosamond had published 100 short stories and 21 novels. She also wrote plays for radio programs. She is probably best known, however, for her fiction for teenagers published in the 1950's and 60's. Her daughters helped her to understand teenagers' emotions and thinking processes. Local scenes were often used as settings for her books.

The Bloomingdale Public Library has ten of Mrs. DuJardin's novels on the shelves in the juvenile section. Three of the titles are Class Ring, Junior Year Abroad and Senior Prom.

TO OUR NORTHERN FRIENDS

The city of Vancouver, Canada recently requested the Village of Bloomingdale send a gift to Vancouver in honor of its 100th birthday and Expo '86, the World's Fair on Transportation and Communication. They requested something which would represent Bloomingdale. In the spirit of friendship and good will we sent them a Village flag.

Vancouver's Mayor, Michael Harcourt, promises our gift, along with those from many other North American cities, will be displayed for all to see. He further added he hopes Bloomingdale residents might be among the visitors to Vancouver in 1986.

INDIAN LAKES EARNS TRIPLE A

Indian Lakes Resort has been awarded their fifth consecutive 4 Diamond rating from AAA, the American Automobile Association. The 4 Diamond rating is given to only the top seven percent of the 17,000 AAA approved accommodations in North America. "A 4 Diamond rating signifies an exceptional property which offers luxurious accommodations as well as above average staff and housekeeping and other amenities," said Jack Roberts, AAA's director of accommodations.

Indian Lakes Resort is accustomed to receiving awards from the travel industry and from corporate publications, such as the prestigious Gold Key Award from "Meetings and Conventions" magazine.

"A large percentage of our weekday business consists of two to five day corporate meetings, and the weekend business is predominantly vacationers from Chicago and a four-state area," says Richard N. Weber, general manager. "We are also seeing a trend toward a combination of the two markets, where people here for a business meeting will stay for the weekend to enjoy sports, nearby shopping or sightseeing in the Chicagoland area."

Indian Lakes Resort is owned by VMS Realty and managed by CPS Hotel Management Services, Inc., a division of Carson Pirie Scott. In addition to 308 guest rooms and 36,000 sq. ft. of meeting space, the resort offers two 18-hole golf courses, six restaurants and lounges, six tennis courts, indoor and outdoor pools and a Health Club.

“WHAT DO YOU THINK?”

Great News! Bloomingdale Park District baseball programs are very popular. The bad news is there is limited parking near Tompkins Park, Winston and Edgewater. The two fields there host approximately 50 families for each game scheduled, plus coaches, umpires, grandparents and friends. Why are there “no parking” signs on the east side of Winston, near Fairfield. During certain seasons baseball fields attract large volumes of people and this should be considered when making “no parking” decisions. A study should be done in order to create more parking.

Name withheld by request

We have determined over the years that the relatively high traffic volumes on Winston require controls in terms of parking. These volumes, combined with the grade kids crossing the streets, turning traffic from Edgewater and Fairfield onto Winston, are all considerations which need to be made in combination.

Neighborhood parks, such as this one, could use off-street parking but only for short time periods and usually they are cost-prohibitive especially compared in priority with other needed programs. I am forwarding a copy of your letter to Tom Lovern, Park District Director, for his response regarding the need for additional off-street parking spaces at the park.

Ref: “Message From Fire Dept.” as per porch lite fire hazard. My house has same light as illustrated in the article. My solution was to remove light housing from the wall, invert the light socket, replace light housing in an upside-down position. Advantage: no room for bird nest, no change in light appearance for house design, no cost for solution, permits more light to shine downward for safer lighting.

Thank you for sharing your solution with us. The only thing I would add to your light conversion job is a piece of glass for the bottom of the fixture to keep birds out per the Fire Department flyer.

My son, who resides on Milford Lane in Bloomingdale, had us over for a barbecue on July 5, as well as his in-laws who are residents of Norridge. After eating we walked over to the park and enjoyed the fireworks display. I must say that you had the best display of any Village we have seen so far.

Thanks again to the Chamber of Commerce, Park District and all those who helped to make this our best July 4th celebration ever!
